

SEQUENCE:

- Sequence is a gradual transition from one area to another within a landscape.
- A landscape with sequence has one element changing at a time rather than several changing at once.
- Landscape with a coarse-textured plant next to a fine-textured plant is an example of poor sequence!

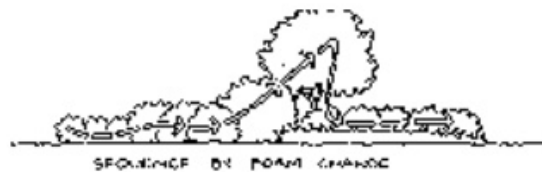

Principles of landscape design

• Unity in landscape design

– Sequence

- Move viewer's eyes over landscape in orderly fashion

– Achieved by gradual progression of form, texture or color

Photographic view of good sequence

